The general superior and three general councilors form the general council and are the primary leaders of the Congregation, responsible for the ordinary governance and administration of the community. Working as a team, they foster spiritual and apostolic vitality, quality community life, stewardship of community resources, and faithfulness to the spirit of our CSA Founders, Constitutions, and Mission Statement. "Those called to roles of authority exercise their service in the likeness of the servant Jesus, and mediate to the sisters the love of God." (CSA Constitutions, #89)
